Monkey Rides Outside of Cage As Circus Leaves

MONKEY BUSINESS. Or this could be titled "Life Uptown" or "Wildlife in Harrisburg." Take your pick.

Early yesterday morning the King Bros. and Cole Bros. combined circus was leaving Harrisburg. The big trucks pulled up North Main street as they made their southward trek to Metropolis, where the circus played yesterday and last night.

But one of the monkeys apparently got out of the cage wagon last night or early today, because it was riding the outside of the cage instead of inside.

When the monkey truck was traveling along the west side of the square this monkey hopped off and made its way to the row of stores, apparently to do a little window shopping.

Quinn Stuby, who drives a Pankey bakery truck early in Harrisburg, saw the monkey scamper off the truck and run into the space out in front between the Carns show windows. He hailed the driver and told him what had happened.

The driver halted and went over to catch the monkey. It got away from him, however, and ran to the court house lawn, where it kept eluding the chaser. Then it proceeded on southward on Main street.

Finally it stopped at the door between the show windows of Ray's drug store and there the circus man threw a blanket over him quickly and got the animal back in the cage.

A FEW DAYS AGO this department received a post card from the deep south. Signed by Jim Durham, Ronnie Mitchell, Charles Polk and Gary Trammel, the card which started out by saying: "Dear Tim: Four of your own Harrisburg boys are in the South, showing these southerners how to live." Then it explained that the group, which had been to New Orleans, La., was then in St. Petersburg, Fla., and planned to go to Daytona Beach before starting home.

Yesterday I received the following card:

"Dear Tim: Four of your own Harrisburg girls are in the South part of town showing those southerners how to live! We plan to stay until Sunday, then head home by way of Dayton street. The new city water is fine. You should try it some time! This epistle was signed by Joan Seright, Judy Franks, Sandra Lassater and Pat Hodson.

We have clever girls in our town.

Galatia High School Will Begin Aug. 29

The school year 1955-56 will begin at Galatia Community high school at 8:35 a. m. Monday, Aug. 29. The school day will begin with a general assembly in the gymnasium, followed by final registration. Classes will meet and books will be issued on Monday.

The textbook rental system will be used again this year but due to rising costs the rental fee will be $5 per student. There will be no lock or locker fee. Workbooks, if required, will be purchased by the student.

A new insurance plan will be in operation this year which will give the student broader coverage. The premium will be $1.25 and all athletes will be required to carry the insurance.

Lunch will be served the first day of school. The cafeteria will continue to operate on the same prices charged last year as long as possible. However, due to the loss of state reimbursement and higher transportation charges, it may be necessary to increase prices at a later date. Meal tickets may be purchased the first day of school for $2.50. This ticket will be good for ten days.

In order to facilitate the collection of fees, students are urged to bring the correct amount of change for each of the above charges. It is probable that school will be dismissed early Monday afternoon.

There will be a meeting of all G. C. H. S. teachers at the high school at 9:30 a. m. Saturday, Aug. 27.

Connecticut Section Declared Disaster Area

10 Deaths Reported In New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania

NEW YORK — Torrents of rain dumped from dying hurricanes across seven northeastern states today.

A swollen reservoir threatened to burst its dam over a score of western Massachusetts and Connecticut towns, many of them already inundated by overflowing streams.

The entire northwestern section of Connecticut was declared a disaster area with evacuation proceeding under civil defense and National Guard direction. The Coast Guard reported it was "picking people out of trees" by helicopter in the Torrington, Conn. area.

The Connecticut governor said damage in the Torrington-Farmington-Colebrook area had been estimated at one billion dollars before noon, with flood waters sending buildings, oil tanks and debris floating through the streets.

A second major flood disaster swirled through the adjacent corners of New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania where at least 10 deaths were reported. Two passenger trains were marooned. Thirty-three children were being picked up by helicopter from a summer camp turned into an island overnight. Other summer camps were cut off from the world.

Unknown Number Dead

Cumberland, Md., and Ridgeley, W. Va., were flooded by the spilling waters of the Cumberland river. High water shut down two major industrial plants in Cumberland. The crest was reported to have passed, however, and the sun was shining over the sodden communities.

Northwestern Connecticut, a network of river valleys, appeared hardest hit by what Gov. Abraham Ribicoff termed "a very grave disaster." The cities of Torrington, Winsted and Bristol were completely cut off from the world with bridge, highway and railroad washouts. Four tenement houses were reported to have collapsed into the swirling waters of the mad river at Winsted.

Ribicoff said an unknown number of deaths had been caused by the floods.

A number of the already flooded Connecticut communities in the Farmington river valley were in peril of their very existence should engineers fail to hold Massachusetts' Otis Reservoir Dam against the burgeoning waters.

12 Inches of Rain

More than 12 inches of rain had fallen in the Massachusetts and Connecticut areas in the last 48 hours and it still was coming down at mid-morning.

Ribicoff attempted to reach the stricken towns by police cruiser this morning. He was forced to abandon the car and hitch-hike back by milk truck, highway truck and another police cruiser to Hartford, whose streets also were awash. The governor said he saw "many people on roof tops awaiting evacuation" and heard the ominous "rumble of boulders rolling down the hillsides."

Cutter Laboratories to Receive Favorable Verdict in Gov't Report

WASHINGTON — Cutter Laboratories will get a favorable verdict in the government's forthcoming report on the outbreak of polio among children who received Cutter vaccine, industry sources said today.

They said the report, expected to be published in a few days, shows that scientists failed to establish the exact cause of the Cutter incident despite nearly four months of exhaustive investigation.

But they added that the document suggests the trouble probably stemmed from shortcomings in the government's original safety standards rather than from negligence or failure on the part of Cutter.

Nearly 70 persons who received Cutter shots were struck down by polio in the early days of the mass inoculation program. The outbreak touched off a national scare and led to sweeping changes in federal safety standards.

Major Investigation Launched
All Cutter vaccine, made in Berkeley, Calif., was immediately withdrawn from distribution. The Health Service launched a major investigation to find out if the vaccine was to blame and, if so, why. The report on the results of the

Dr. John Choisser Sells Office, Home; to Enter Post-Graduate Study

Dr. John Elder Choisser of Eldorado today revealed that he and his family will leave Sept. 1 for St. Louis, where he will enter Washington University College of Medicine and the Barnes hospital for post-graduate work to specialize in eye, ear, nose and throat treatment.

After about 21 months of schooling, he said, he expects to return to this area. He received some specialized training in this field when in the Navy during World War II.

Dr. Choisser sold both his office and his home in Eldorado to Dr. Dale Caveness, formerly of Eldorado, who has been associated with the Memorial hospital at McLeansboro. Dr. Caveness took over the Eldorado office Aug. 15.

Winners in the contest Monday night will also appear Tuesday afternoon.

County Board Votes New Term for Brown

Board of Review Granted Extension To Complete Work

The Saline County Board of Supervisors yesterday morning voted another six-year term to R. D. Brown as county superintendent of highways and approved an extension of 30 days for the board of review past the Sept. 7 deadline if the time is needed to complete its work.

There were no dissenting votes shown to either motion but quite a bit of pro and con discussion preceded the approval of the extension for the board of review.

The resolution to recommend Brown to the post he has held for four consecutive terms will be sent to the state division of highways for approval. The present term ends in September.

Before the vote was taken one member, Claude Moore of Mountain township, asked Brown if he intended to fulfill the term or pass it on to someone else before it ended. Brown replied that he would keep the office himself as long as he was able and right now he felt pretty good.

Stress Value of Neighborhood Soil Leaders

The importance and value of neighborhood group leaders in soil conservation programs was stressed last night by speakers at a meeting for these leaders in the Saline County Soil Conservation district.

The meeting was held in the council room of the Harrisburg city hall. The meeting was arranged by the district board of directors and Thomas Morgan, farm planner of the county district. A. Gholson, president of the district board, presided.

Speaker Bernard Fleming, field representative of the Soil Conservation division, Department of Agriculture, State of Illinois, talked about the responsibility of neighborhood group leaders to the district board, and of the board's responsibility to the leaders.

He told of the need of efficient soil conservation practices, especially since the population of the United States had doubled in seventy years and that it is still growing.

"We must be concerned with providing food and fiber for the future and must see to the fertility of the soil for the people living then," he stated.

And, he pointed out, land is being taken out of use by different things and used the new super-highways being constructed over new territory as an example. One mile of superhighway, he said, takes 25 acres of what had been farmland.

He said Soil Conservation officials are depending on the neighborhood group leaders, who see their neighbors every day and are trusted by them, to attract new co-operators to save the soil.

He also pointed out that a conservation plan on a farm will pay $8 per acre per year more than on a farm where there is none.

Bruce Clark, state conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture, declared that there is no substitute for grass roots interest and action in conservation of farmlands.

"And you never get too many leaders," he stated. "If you are in a position to exert leadership, you are of great value to your country."

He congratulated the board and the group leaders for the job being done in Saline county and declared "it's not how big but how efficient the program is."

Following refreshments, Paul Halbersleben of Harrisburg, district board member, explained the financial setup of the district, Harry Gearhart of the Mt. Vernon office was introduced and the state department of agriculture, explained the work of the state division.

After each group leader identified himself and told of the work in his area, a round-table discussion was held.

Army to Accept 6-Month Trainees

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army announced today it will accept immediate enlistments from young men who want to serve six months on active duty and then spend 7½ years in the reserves.

Officials said that the enlistees probably will be called for actual training Oct. 1. The six-month plan is a key part of the nation's new reserve program.

The announcement disclosed that the Army plans to train or start training 90,000 young men under 18½ years old by next June 30.

After that, the enlistees will be obligated to serve 7½ years in ready reserves units, engaging in 48 two-hour drills and 15 days annual camp training.

Wilson Receives Commission as State's Attorney

Robert V. Wilson received his commission as state's attorney of Saline county yesterday afternoon and today had assumed the duties of the office.

Wilson, Eldorado Democrat, succeeds K. C. Ronalds, who has been serving since January.

The new state's attorney, who will serve in the present term until December, 1956, today announced his appointments as follows: Assistant state's attorney, Harry McCabe; secretary, Eugenia Platter; Mrs. Platter, formerly Miss Eugenia Golliver, has been working in the law offices of Atty. McCabe and Atty. Alfie O. Boswell.

Wilson was elected state's attorney at a special election held Tuesday, Aug. 9, defeating John W. Biggers, Harrisburg Republican. A vacancy was created in the office of state's attorney last January when Glen O. Jones resigned to become state senator. The county board appointed K. C. Ronalds to serve until a special election could be held.

Retiring with Ronalds from the office are Atty. Biggers, assistant state's attorney, and Lou Eva Turner, office secretary.

Death Takes Mrs. Millie Walker

Mrs. Millie Walker who lived at 410 East Locust street died at 3:20 p. m. yesterday at her home. She was the last one of a family of 14 children born to Ross and Mary Seten, a pioneer family of Saline county.

She is survived by a son, Seten Walker.

The funeral will be Saturday at 2 p. m. in the chapel of the Harrisburg funeral home. Rev. Joe Norman will officiate and burial will be in Sunset Lawn cemetery.

There will be no flowers for the funeral.

ASC Community Committee Elections To Be Held in September

Paul B. Whitlock, chairman, Saline County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee, announced today that ASC community committee elections will be held in September. Committee members elected will take office October 1, and will serve until elections are held next year.

"Balloting will be conducted by mail," Chairman Whitlock, stated. Ballots listing at least ten candidates will be mailed to all eligible voters by the County ASC office. Each voter will vote for the five men of his choice for the three regular members of the community committee and two alternate committee members. The candidates are to be nominated by the Community Election Board, of three farmers chosen by the County Election Board according to Mr. Whitlock.

Members of the County Election Board in Saline County are as follows: L. B. Kimmel, county agent; E. Ronald Coon, F. H. A.; Thomas W. Morgan, SCS technician; C. Errel Vinyard, president of Farm Bureau.

Boy, 12, Loses Leg Trying To Hop Coal Car

A 12-year-old Eldorado lad lost a leg today in an attempt to hop a moving coal car.

He is Phillip Brown, son of Mrs. Hallie Little of Eldorado. He is in the Ferrell hospital at Eldorado with his right leg cut off about three inches below the knee.

The accident happened about 9:30 a. m. Sheriff William T. Barrett and Deputy Sheriff James Lyon were told.

A witness told the officers that the boy tried to hop one of the coal cars of a New York Central coal drag at the Third street crossing in Eldorado. The boy attempted to catch the rear end of the car and slipped, a wheel severing the leg.

There was no report on his condition at Ferrell hospital.

Carpenter Falls To Knees, Begs Not To Be Shot

CHICAGO (AP)—Captured gunman Richard Carpenter, outwitted by the desperate father of a family he held hostage for 24 hours, today confessed killing one policeman and wounding another in one of Chicago's greatest one-man crime waves.

Carpenter, a burly 26-year-old, broke down a few hours after a police barrage of machine gun bullets and tear gas flushed him from a bullet-riddled West Side apartment.

He had been tricked by Leonard Powell, whose home he had turned into a hideout to escape a city-wide manhunt. Powell slipped out of his apartment on a pretext and rushed to a telephone to alert police that the killer was holding him hostage with his wife and two children.

Carpenter broke down "and begged like a baby not to be shot" when he was captured. At first he denied the shooting, but broke down under hours of police grilling.

Assistant State's Attorney Frank Wehlan said early today that Carpenter confessed killing Detective William Murphy, 34, on a subway station platform Monday night. He also admitted critically wounding rookie policeman Clarence Kerr, 26, in a gun duel at a movie theater Wednesday night.

Carpenter claimed that in both cases he broke away from the arresting officers and they fired first. Murphy was seeking Carpenter for a string of tavern robberies and Kerr later spotted the killer in one of the many theaters where he slept to elude the police.

Carpenter was a victor in both his gun duels with police, but Kerr winged him in the battle at the Biltmore Theater. Moments later, gun in hand and limping from a leg wound, he forced his way into the Powell home at 2040 Potomac Ave.

"You know who I am," Carpenter said. "I killed that police officer Monday night and I killed another one tonight. I'll kill anyone who tries to get me."

For the next 24 hours, the wounded gunman sat in the Powell home, holding his revolver most of the time. His refuge lasted until Powell, plotting desperately to save his family, outwitted him Thursday night.

Powell, a 35-year-old truck driver, persuaded Carpenter to let his wife take their children, Bobby, 7, and Diane, 3, for a walk. Otherwise, he said, neighbors might get suspicious.

Then, talking fast and convincingly, Powell said he always visited his grandfather down the street. Carpenter trusted Powell and let him go. Minutes later, Powell was at a telephone with the words "A woman and two children are being held at bay at 2040 Potomac."

Thirty squads of policemen answered the call within minutes. Carpenter, crouching alone at the Powell's second-story window, heard the approaching sirens and decided to make a getaway.

He leaped through an open window and across a three-foot area into the next door apartment of Stanley Sciblo. Gasping "Stay where you are and everything will be all right," he ran to the rear steps and up to the third-floor apartment of Alphonse Krolkow-ski.

But by now the string had run out for Carpenter. Police swarmed in the street below and a loud-speaker barked a surrender order. "Flashlight picked out Carpenter's frantic form at the third floor windows and police poured in tear gas and machine gun shells.

Police heard the gunman scream "Don't shoot! I'll give up. I'm Carpenter."

Then he fled back to the Sciblo apartment. Four policemen rushed in and grabbed him as he cowered in a bathroom.

Policemen, who would have welcomed a chance to shoot it out with Carpenter, found themselves forced to protect him from a mob of about 1,000 persons outside the Potomac Avenue apartment houses.

Reckless Driving

Editorial By Bruce Blossat

Nobody seems willing to deny the nation's great need for more highways. But apparently you can find plenty of people, especially in Congress, who won't commit themselves on how we should pay for them.

So now the country faces another dismal period of waiting, perhaps for as long as two years, before an adequate, properly financed highway program may come into being.

It was not unexpected that the House killed President Eisenhower's road program, key portions of which were to be financed by federal revenue bonds not to be counted as part of the national debt.

The lawmakers, particularly the majority Democrats, disapproved this feature.

The House did cause a surprise, however, when it overturned the Democrats' substitute "it by a margin of roughly two and a half to one."

The Democratic proposal called for spending 50 billion dollars of federal and state money for roads over a 15-year period. Of this, $12,423,000,000 was to be provided by new taxes on gasoline, diesel fuel, truck tires and tubes, and other highway-user items.

According to some astonished and disappointed Democratic leaders, the taxes were the sticking point. Few House members were willing to impose them.

Top Democrats openly laid a good part of the opposition to the trucking lobby. Many legislators privately admitted that the heat was terrific from those who would feel the tax bite most sharply.

Speaker Rayburn viewed the outcome so gloomily that he doubted Congress would get together on a highway program before 1957.

If that prediction should prove accurate, the country's road network likely will be in far worse condition than it is today.

Thousands of additional miles of highway will deteriorate in that interval, without adequate maintenance or repair. Millions more cars and trucks will crowd the traffic lanes. New highways now under construction will be loaded with vehicles from the moment they are opened.

The nation's staggering annual total of fatalities on the streets and highways will continue to shock us all.

In the face of the great need, in the face of this worsening prospect, the lawmakers have done nothing. And by their negative performance they have confessed moral bankruptcy, utter irresponsibility and lack of courage.

When the mess gets worse, as it surely will, the average American citizen may be minded to fix blame. He can look first to those who voted this year to do nothing, and then to the men, whoever they are, whom the lawmakers say pressured them into shirking their duty.

Philippi, W. Va., was the scene of the first land battle of the Civil War.

New Law for Absentee Voting by Disabled May Benefit 100,000

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (Special to The Daily Register) — The new state law providing absentee ballots for the sick, disabled and hospitalized for the first time in Illinois history may benefit as many as 100,000 persons, according to State Sen. Miss Lillian E. Schlagenhauf, Quincy, chief sponsor of the proposal in two sessions of the General Assembly.

Senator Schlagenhauf piloted the proposal which had the backing of Gov. William G. Stratton both in the 1953 and 1955 legislatures, through the Senate two years ago only to see it lose in the House. She renewed her efforts at the recent session, saw it through the Senate, and then when House defeat again threatened, graciously pushed an identical amended House-approved bill through the Senate.

With Miss Schlagenhauf on the bill in the Senate were Sens. Dennis J. Collins, DeKalb, and John Steyer, Danville. It passed the Senate easily but was bogged down in the House. Seeing the possibility of it again losing in the House she pushed the latter's bill, and passed it. The House sponsors included Reps. Richard Stengel, R., Rock Island; Paul Simon, Troy; Alan J. Dixon, Belleville; John K. Morris, Chadwick.

"It has always seemed to me a most unjust situation to permit someone who was well and able-bodied, to leave his place of residence voluntarily, whether for pleasure or work, and allow him to vote by absentee ballot, but prevent someone from voting, who through no fault of his own, is sick or disabled," said Senator Schlagenhauf.

The lady lawmaker said it seemed ridiculous too, to allow a person confined in a hospital outside of his own county to vote by absentee ballot and deny that privilege to him if he were hospitalized in his home county. She said she was inspired to sponsor the proposal because of personal experiences that two relatives who were ill couldn't vote for that reason.

Miss Schlagenhauf says the new law will benefit hundreds of sick and disabled veterans "in our Veterans Hospital—men who gave the best of themselves in the service of their country, who because they are physically unable to go to the polls have been deprived of one of the greatest privileges of citizenship."

"I wish I could think that everyone who is receiving this new privilege would use it but somehow we have never been able to impress on the minds of many of our people what a sacred duty, as well as a wonderful privilege, voting is and when we realize that among those who are well, and have no excuse for failure to vote we find about 40 per cent who fail to take advantage of the privilege."

A 2,500 mile busman's holiday has convinced Gov. William G. Stratton more than ever that Illinois ought to have a speed limit law for automobiles on the state's highways. He's now talking about a special session of the General Assembly to enact such a law. It most likely will call for a 65 mile per hour limit in the daytime and 55 at night time.

State Rep. Ralph Stehpenson, R., Moline, and George Brydia, R., Prophetstown, who were the original sponsors of such a law in the recent General Assembly, are anxious for another try at a special session. Brydia thinks "it would be a fine thing for traffic safety to pass such a law." Stehpenson said he too, will get behind another chance to "stop laughter on our highways."

The Governor's busman holiday was taken a few weeks ago. In the company of Mrs. Stratton and their two daughters, Sandra and Dianne, they drove east after a first stop at the Martinsville Fair in Clark county. He shared the driving with his daughters and said he was amazed and interested in the speed limit signs he saw while traveling east.

He's keeping his eye on the mounting death toll from automobile accidents and it is quite likely that should traffic fatalities continue to increase that he will call a short special session to enact a speed law. Stratton in addressing the opening session of the General Assembly last January 5, said "of prime importance in our program for highway improvement is safer use of the roads."

A surprise on the Republican state ticket may be a lady nominee. The idea is being played with by some GOP leaders. The lady is Mrs. Fay Searcy, Springfield, clerk of the Illinois State Supreme Court. Mrs. Searcy is the widow of former Clerk Earle Benjamin Searcy, well known throughout the state. She accompanied him on his many campaign tours.

The Illinois State Supreme Court appointed Mrs. Searcy to the vacancy caused by her husband's death. The lady clerk is not a candidate but it is believed she could be persuaded to accept a new clerk admits she doesn't know much about politics except for what might have rubbed off on her from her husband but supreme court attaches say "she'll do."

Mrs. Searcy's appearance belies the fact that she is a grandmother five times. Like her late husband she gets to work early and stays daylong in her office. She says she is grateful for the opportunity her work gives her to be of public service (not to mention that $10,000-a-year salary). Her children and grandchildren live in cities other than Springfield.

DREW PEARSON Says: Balloon Leaflets Sent Behind Iron Curtain Total 200,000,000; It Was Exactly Four Years Ago That We Launched First Balloon To Czechoslovakia; Talbott Used Air Force Cars Even After Leaving Air Force.

WASHINGTON — It was exactly four years ago this week that a little group of Americans headed a truck caravan that crept through the German countryside to the edge of the Czechoslovak border to launch a unique experiment in sending messages by balloon over the Iron Curtain.

In the party were Gov. Harold Stassen, C. D. Jackson, later psychological adviser to the White House, Abbott Washburn—now doing an A-1 job as No. 2 man in the U. S. information agency—and this correspondent. We parked in a wheat field just under the lee of the hills that border Czechoslovakia, and began stuffing leaflets into balloons, filling the balloons with gas and letting them float up until the prevailing winds caught them and carried them at a rate of 30 miles an hour into Czechoslovakia.

It was about one A. M. and drizzling when we launched the first balloon. It drizzled most of the night—a rain that penetrated everything, soaked to the skin. However, the operation continued. Dawn came. Some 2,000 balloons carrying an average of 600 leaflets each were on their way to Czechoslovakia.

Then we drove back to Munich and waited—waited for the reaction of the Communist government in Prague. Five days passed, nothing happened. We sent more balloons. Still nothing happened. Finally an explosion of protests and indignation began to boil out of Czechoslovakia.

HOWLS OF ANGUISH

If the Communists had been smarter they would have kept quiet, made us think the balloons never arrived. Instead they howled. A cartoon appeared on page one of the leading Communist paper, Tvorba, showing Harry Truman sending balloons into Czechoslovakia.

Premier Zapotocky delivered a speech in the Czech parliament blasting us. Word came back by refugees and the American embassy that the balloon leaflets had been tacked up on telephone poles, fastened on bulletin boards, put in baggage racks of trains, even mimeographed—distributed wherever anti-Communists knew they would be seen.

Later, official protests came from the Czechoslovak government to the U. S. government, demanding that the balloon barrage be stopped. But the U. S. government replied this was a private matter over which it had no control.

This was all too true. For the balloon barrage had been proposed by me in a newspaper column, July 21, 1948, and it took three years of talking, arguing, planning, before we could even get permission to go to the German-Czech border.

But here is the pay-off. As of this week, the 4th anniversary of the balloon barrage, a total of 400 tons of printed matter has now been dropped on Czechoslovakia and Hungary by balloon. This is a total of 200,000,000 leaflets—carried by private enterprise, with the crusade for freedom and the committee for Free Europe deserving the credit.

It shows what people can do when they really work at penetrating the Iron Curtain.

TALBOTT'S LAST BIT OF GRAVY

Here is the latest little private bouquet handed to retiring Secretary of the Air Force Talbott by the Air Force.

After he retired, not before, who should turn up at the Irving hotel in Southampton, but the Talbott family, plus two large Air Force cars with two Air Force drivers, plus one officer in gold braid, plus the Talbott family. Though he was no longer head of the Air Force, government personnel and property were still being used for Talbott's benefit.

This came on top of turning out 48 jet bombers and fighters, flown from Savannah, Ga., Pinecastle, Fla., Wright Field, Va., and Langley Field, Va., to honor a man shown up as serving a conflict of interest while head of the Air Force.

Air Force officials may have liked Talbott personally, as this writer did. But when you are operating an important arm of national defense, to say nothing of spending the taxpayers' money, you have to be careful not to lose the confidence of the American people.

The Air Force has now made it appear that they sympathized with Talbott's conflict of interest and politics-playing with defense contracts. And there's no better way to lose the confidence of the American people.

BENSON PRESERVES FOREST

Having sometimes criticized Secretary of Agriculture Benson, it's a pleasure to pay him a compliment. Ezra has now taken a firm stand in support of his career forestry officials against leasing part of the Cumberland National Forest in Kentucky for strip mining.

On Nov. 15, 1954, this column reported that Benson was wavering a bit on this point by not accepting a Forest Service recommendation that there be no strip mining for coal in the Cumberland forest. The Stearns Coal and Lumber Co. of Stearns, Ky., had applied for a lease.

Benson at that time appointed Charley Taft, fair-minded brother of the late Senator Taft, together with R. L. Wilhelm of St. Clairsville, Ohio, and Samuel T. Dana, former dean of the University of Michigan school of conservation, to study the matter. They have finally agreed with regional forester Charles L. Tebbe against any strip mining, and Benson has now rejected the Stearns application.

WASHINGTON PIPELINE

Happy Chandler, who boasts that he'll purge Democratic leader Earl Clements from the Senate, made the same boast against Senators Logan and Barkley. Each time he failed. . . . Congressman Joe Moss of Sacramento says that in the cabinet doesn't come across with information about its suppression of the news he'll subpoena them. Moss heads a committee to probe the suppression of news which the public has a right to know. . . . Secretary of Agriculture Benson will not call on his old employee, Serge Ladejinsky, whom he fired, when Benson peddles U. S. farm surpluses abroad. He'll pay formal calls on the Agriculture ministers of six European countries but won't go to the Far

SIU Instructor Refuses Loyalty Oath, Resigns

CARBONDALE, Ill. (AP) — A Southern Illinois University faculty member has resigned rather than take the loyalty oath now required of all state employees.

Lecturer Robert T. Harris of the SIU philosophy department, resigned Wednesday. He said he would not sign the loyalty oath required by the Broyles law.

Harris said he will join the faculty of Bradley University in Peoria, which is a private school not subject to the oath.

Harris said he decided not to sign the oath at SIU even before East. . . . Incidentally now that Benson operates the network of U. S. agricultural attaches, their number has increased more than 30 per cent. When the State Department operated agricultural attaches, we had 59. But economy preaching Benson, in four months, increased them to 83.

being offered the position at Bradley. He said he considered the oath "an invasion of individual rights and an insult to the SIU administration which hired me."

SIU Vice President Charles Tenney said no other members of the summer session staff refused to sign the oath. Tenney said, however, October will be a "critical period," when the first pay checks are due fall-term faculty members. He said they won't receive pay unless they sign the oath.

Miss Eugenia Golliher, Bill Plater
Wed in Ceremony at St. Mary's Rectory

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Plater

In a simple and impressive candlelight ceremony which took place Friday evening, Aug. 12, at seven o'clock Miss Ellen Eugenia Golliher, daughter of Mrs. Veima Golliher, 501 South Shaw, became the bride of Bill T. Plater, son of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Plater of Vienna. Father Thomas G. Bruns performed the double ring service in the rectory of St. Mary's Catholic church.

The bride was lovely in a street length dress of cotton pique fashioned with a long fitted torso and a scalloped neckline sprinkled with rhinestones and pearls. She wore a matching hat and carried a cascade bouquet of thalassopsis orchids and roses intermingled with blue satin leaves and net.

Miss Mary Anne Humm, close friend of the bride, was maid of honor wearing a dress of figured blue silk with white accessories. She carried an elongated bouquet of white asters surrounded by blue pumps with blue velvet streamers. Tom Golden of Harrisburg served as best man. Waldo R. Golli-her, brother of the bride, was usher.

Decorations for the occasion included baskets of gladioli and daisies and lighted candles.

The bride's mother was dressed in a navy suit with white accessories and a corsage of white Fuji mums and pink sweetheart roses. Mrs. Plater wore a powder blue silk dress with blue accessories. Her flowers were white feathered carnations with pink sweetheart roses.

The bride is a graduate of the Harrisburg Township high school where she reigned as homecoming queen her senior year. She was also selected as Miss Saline County of 1954. After attending Southern Illinois university for one year she has been employed in the law offices of Boswell and McCabe, but will be secretary for the new state's attorney, Bob Wilson.

The bridegroom has a B. S. degree from Southern Illinois university and is a staff member of WSIL-TV.

After a short trip South the couple is at home at 295B South Ganger.

Out of town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose Klester, Carbondale, Mr. and Mrs. Waldo Golliher, Paducah, Ky., and Mrs. A. D. Klester of Carbondale.

Xi Chi Chapter Had
Summer Picnic at
Seton Country Home

The Xi Chi chapter of Beta Sigma Phi held its summer picnic Wednesday evening at the country home of Dr. and Mrs. Charles Seten. There were 27 members present and seven specially invited guests. Guests were Mrs. Ann Wiley, Mrs. Peg Barter, Mrs. Peg Wilmoth, Mrs. Jane Brantley, Mrs. Edith McCormack, Mrs. Dorothy McDaniel and Mrs. Jane Thompson.

Upon arrival each member and guest was given a name card decorated with pictures of fruit, flowers or vegetables which designated her place at the tables set up on the porch. The tables were covered with red and white checked table cloths and centered with interesting arrangements of fruit, flowers and vegetables.

A delicious potluck dinner was served by the hostesses, Mrs. Dorothy Lee Seten, Mrs. Mamie Bramlet, Mrs. Louise Walker, Mrs. Pudge Wilmoth, Mrs. Frances Davenport and Mrs. Edith Arensman. After dinner the group enjoyed games and many lovely prizes were given.

Army, Air Force
Units Rescue 33
Children at Camp

PORT JERVIS, N. Y. (AP)—Operations were underway today by Army and Air Force units to rescue 33 children marooned by flood waters at a summer camp near here.

Stewart Air Force Base, at Newburgh, said the Army had sent four helicopters to the flood-stricken area.

The New York National Guard dispatched two amphibious "ducks" to the scene to aid in rescue operations.

A spokesman at Stewart Air Base said the copters had a capacity of 12, and "probably are bringing the youngsters to higher ground." He said the air base had no further reports on the progress of the rescue. The children were at Jubilee Ranch, a small-fry dude ranch.

Two New Members Complete Faculty
For Carrier Mills High School

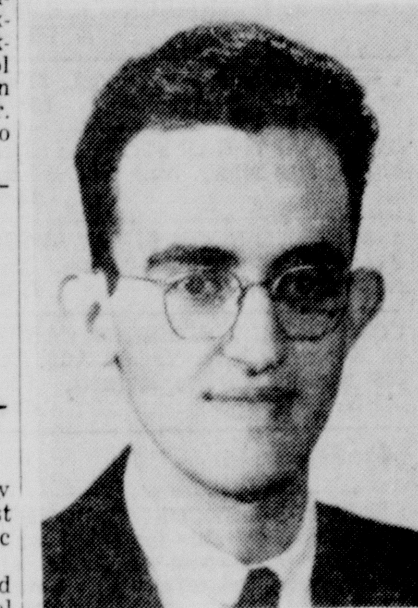

The Carrier Mills Community high school has completed its faculty for the 1955-56 school year with the employment of Mrs. June Priest of Paducah, Ky., and Athel C. Tanner of Thompsonville, Principal Warren G. Jennings announced today. Mrs. Priest will teach English and girls' P. E. and Mr. Tanner and girls' P. E. and Mr. and physics.

Mrs. Priest attended high school in Paducah, and received her Bachelor's degree from Murray State college in 1934 where she graduated with high distinction. She was a member of Sigma Sigma, Sigma social sorority, Kappa Delta Pi national honorary educational fraternity, editor of the school paper, and was listed in Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges for two years.

Mr. Tanner graduated as valedictorian of his class and received his Bachelor's degree from DePaul university in Chicago in 1948. He completed his Master's degree in 1953 at Southern Illinois university. He has had teaching experience in mathematics and bookkeeping in the Galatia high school and mathematics and science in the Thompsonville high school. Mr. Tanner is married and has two children.

Who Rides With Wyatt

by Will Henry

Distributed by NEA. Copyright 1954, 1955 by Will Henry. Used by arrangement with Random House.

THE STORY: As a favor, Wyatt Earp agrees to ride shotgun on the stagecoach from Benson to Tombstone. There's a $15,000 payroll aboard and bandits already have taken $30,000 off that self-same stage in two months. Also passengers on the stage are J. P. Clum, Tombstone's mayor and editor of the Epitaph; Johnny Behan, Pima County political power; Lilly Beloit, "Tombstone Lilly" of the Bird Cage theater; Evvie Cushman, a mighty pretty girl, and Johnny Ringo, a fresh kid who rode out of Texas with Wyatt.

It was a lonesome stretch of country, and no two ways about that. But 20 minutes past Boquilla Springs, right in a coach-high jumble of bedrock, it got considerably less lonesome. That is, if the hand-close company of eight masked horsemen could be said to make it that way.

Of the three in front, two had the slight, slender look of youngsters. The man between the young pair bulked older and heavier. Wyatt gave no look or thought to the five behind, his whole attention hanging on the heavy-set leader of the front three. He thought he recognized him, mask or no mask.

"Ease off, Monk!" The bandit leader's call went familiarly to the old driver. "If that's a new man up there with you, you'd best advise him to toss that shotgun down, peaceful."

"I got you," Monk called back. Then, out of the side of his mouth to Wyatt, "Go ahead, drop it, boy. These fellers don't play fer fun."

Wyatt knew where he was now and for the first time since leaving Benson he felt at home and comfortable. The thick-set bandit was clearly sure of himself, hadn't even unholstered his guns or unbooted his rifle. His two companions, not so old at the game, both had their saddle-guns out and swung up onto Wyatt.

"You hear me, mister?" the heavy man asked pleasantly of Wyatt.

"I hear you, Curly," said Wyatt evenly, and threw down the shotgun.

He threw it down in the western sense, by dropping its worn butt to his hip and firing from there; the young horseman to Curly's left.

"Every man in Tombstone has the left-hand tube blasting the one to his right.

The range was not over 10 yards. The first boy was dead before he hit the ground. The second, nearly cut in two at the waist, was still alive and on his horse.

By this time Wyatt had shifted to his rifle and Curly had found his voice.

"Hold off!" he yelled hurriedly to his five riders beyond the coach. "Don't nobody move!"

Even while advising his followers, he was taking his own instructions literally. He didn't shift a muscle toward any of the three guns he had within arm's reach, but instead carefully raised his palms starward.

"Why didn't you say it was you in the first place?"

"You didn't give me a chance," said Wyatt, with no return of the easy feeling. "But I'm going to give you one."

Wyatt kept his rifle centered on their leader's tobacco sack, while he slowly and carefully read him out.

"Now, you take your boys and get. I'm leaving you go with fair warning this time, but here's something you'd better see gets heard by all your friends hereabouts. The law's come to Tombstone, boys, and I'm it. Move along. Don't bother looking back."

The passengers, with Ringo in the lead and running to join Wyatt, tumbled out of the coach. They had a quick look at what was slumped, unconscious, in its saddle. "Don't bother with him just now," Wyatt warned, waving them back.

"But he's hurt," cried Evvie Cushman.

"You had no call to shoot these two boys. That was pretty close to murder, mister," said Behan.

Wyatt eyed him. "When a man," he said slowly, "asks for my gun, I never question his intentions. It's what you might call an extrajudicial assumption. What makes it binding is whether I give it to him faster than he can take it away from me."

Evelyn Cushman flung a slender hand toward the youth in the saddle. "Isn't that Lennie Watrous?"

The mayor had his look, nodded back to the angry girl. "It's young Watrous, all right, Miss Evvie. But I'm afraid that isn't going to help him any. He had a gun in his hand."

"Every man in Tombstone has

"You'll have quite a long ride, Miss Evvie," Clum simply stated the fact of Pima County's lack of judicial machinery. "There's no court of constituted law nearer than Tucson."

"Mayor Clum's right, ma'am," interrupted Johnny Behan smoothly. "We can all have our say in town tomorrow at the coroner's inquest. Right now our first duty is to this poor wounded boy!"

"First duty," disagreed Wyatt softly. "Is to the law. I'm asking all of you about that hefty outlaw on the bay gelding. Who was he?"

Nobody answered, nor even started to answer. He let them stand a minute. "All right," he said slowly. "Then I'll tell you."

He was watching Behan when he said it. He saw the politician's eyes flick.

Cardinals, Facing Worst Finish in 36 Years, Drop 5-3 Game to Milwaukee

By United Press
The once-proud St. Louis Cardinals, now hopelessly bogged down deep in seventh place, face their worst finish in 36 years.

Not since 1919 have the Cardinals wound up as low as seventh but they don't promise to wind up any higher this year the way they are performing now.

Thursday night's 5-3 defeat at the hands of Milwaukee was the 18th setback in the last 27 games for the former Cardinals, who have watched every club in the National League, except Pittsburgh, pass them by. Oddly, it was Branch Rikiey, current general manager of the Pirates, who managed the last Cardinal team to finish seventh.

Cardinal owner Gusie Busch has indicated there will be a "major turnover" in the club this winter but opposing hitters are getting in their legs against the present St. Louis pitchers while they can.

Rookie Chuck Tanner and Bill Bruton of the Braves each connected for homers against loser Larry Jackson Thursday night, making a total of 147 home runs—highest in the league—that have been hit off Cardinal hurling this year. Southpaw Warren Spahn went the route for the second time in four days to register his 12th victory. He beat the Cards, 12-1, in the opening game of the series Monday.

Cincinnati regained fifth place by nipping Chicago, 2-1, on a smooth six-hit pitching effort by Art Fowler. The Redlegs put together singles by Gus Bell, Chuck Harmon, Rocky Bridges and Roy McMillan for their runs in the sixth off Paul Minner. Dee Fondy singled home the only Cub run in the eighth.

The league-leading Dodgers, who had lost two games in a row to the Giants, jumped on them for an 8-5 victory despite homers by Whitey Lockman and Sid Gordon.

Brooklyn knocked out Jim Hearn with a three-run burst in the opening frame, went ahead 5-0 when Don Hoak slammed a two-run homer in the second inning and then added three more runs with the help of Willie Mays' three base error in the fourth. Reliever Don Bessent was credited with his fifth victory as the Dodgers remained 14 games ahead of the second-place Braves.

The Phillies and Pirates were not scheduled.

Rained out of their scheduled game with the Red Sox, the idle Yankees stayed one game in front in the American League race when the second-place White Sox split a doubleheader with the Athletics.

The White Sox went back into first place temporarily when they beat Kansas City, 6-2, in the opener, but then dropped back into second place by losing the nightcap, 5-3. Virgil Trucks of the White Sox pitched two-hit ball over the first five innings of the first game but retired in favor of Dixie Howell shortly after being hit on the right knee by a line drive off the bat of Harry Simpson in the sixth. In the second game, Arnie Portocarrero limited the White Sox to six hits for his fourth victory. Vic Power and Sherm Lollar hit homers.

In the only other game scheduled, the Indians defeated the Tigers, 5-3, to snap a three-game losing streak and climb within three percentage points of the White Sox. Southpaw Herb Score, the major league strikeout leader, fanned 13 batters in increasing his season total to 192. Two errors in the eighth inning helped the Indians rally for four runs.

Sports Briefs

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP)—Phil Rodgers of San Diego, Calif., just missed the brass ring last year when he was runner-up to Allen Geisberger, but he was out in front of them all today as the International Jaycee Junior Golf Tournament entered the third round.

Rodgers clipped two strokes off par with a 70 on the Columbus Country Club course Thursday to reach the halfway mark with a total of 136.

He gave him a three-stroke lead over Sam Carmichael of Martinsville, Ind., at 139. Carmichael was under par 65 on Wednesday's opening round but soared to a two-over-par Thursday.

His 141 place at 141 was Jack Rule of Waterloo, Iowa.

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—The Detroit Lions make their first start of the year tonight when they meet the Philadelphia Eagles in a National Football League exhibition game in the Cotton Bowl.

The game may mark the final appearance here of Doak Walker, former Southern Methodist University star, if he goes through with retirement plans at the end of the 1955 season.

STEVENS POINT, Wis. (AP)—The Green Bay Packers, 48-10 strong, leave for Akron, Ohio, today where they will meet the champion Cleveland Browns in an exhibition game Saturday night.

The Packers announced that waivers are being asked on veteran tackle Tom Johnson of Michigan, who returned to the club this year after a two-year Army hitch.

CHICAGO (AP)—Five challengers were expected to be entered today for a battle against Rex Ellsworth's Swaps, unbeaten as a three-year-old, in Saturday's 45th running of the Washington Park $100,000 added American Derby.

1,500 Hot Rodders To Compete At Lawrenceville
LAWRENCEVILLE, Ill. (AP)—The vanguard of 1,500 hot rodgers expected at the world series of drag racing were arriving here Thursday.

Officials of the Automobile Timing Association of America were busy receiving entries and checking the hopped-up racers. Strict safety checks are made before the hot rods are permitted to run drag races on the main runway of the Lawrenceville Municipal Airport.

Elimination races now in progress will be capped Sunday by finals in the 32 classes of the fast cars.

The hot rodgers compete against each other to set the fastest speed for one-quarter mile from a standing start. One official of the association predicts a speed of 145 miles per hour might be reached this weekend. Last year's champion was clocked at a little better than 135 miles per hour.

Officials of the meet expect 500 entries and about 10,000 spectators.

Memphis Boy, 16, Unable to Make Grid Team, Kills Himself

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—A 16-year-old high school student shot and killed himself Thursday several hours after being told he would not make the football team, police said.

James E. McQuarrie was told by his football coach after the first few practice sessions that he wouldn't make the team this fall. He went home, police said, relayed the news to his parents and shot himself a short time later.

Legion Plays Old Hickory Barons At Carrier Mills

Sunday afternoon at the Carrier Mills high school diamond, the Harrisburg Legion nine will host the strong Negro club known as the Old Hickory Barons from down around Nashville, Tenn.

The Barons sport a very fine record this season; having won 22 games while dropping only three so far this year. One of their defeats came at the hands of the Legion two weeks ago and the Barons were eager for another game in order to avenge this setback. Ham Hodge, the manager of the Barons, has promised to bring to Carrier Mills a club featuring players from several of the Negro professional leagues such as the Memphis Red Sox, the Cincinnati Clowns and Birmingham Barons.

The Legion will pit its usual strong line-up against these invaders from the southeast. Manager Jim Hay expects to have both his hard throwing right handers, Bill McNew and Don Wallace, ready for action. Dick Romonosky is due to do the catching with Bob Dallas, Dick Odle, "Flash" Griffiths and Fred Williams filling up the infield spots. Merle Dailey, Harold Guiley and Frank Logsdon on the reserve department will be Aggie Miller, Bill Hull and Joe Speaks.

The game is slated to get underway at 2 p. m. and fans of this area wishing to see a pair of good ball clubs in action are invited to come to the Carrier Mills diamond Sunday afternoon.

Jukes, DX Win Playoffs; James Beats All-Stars

By David Nelson
The Golish Jukes won the playoffs from the Three-I league All-Stars by a 11-1 count, and by winning the first game, 6-4, clinched their league playoffs in two games straight.

The DX Chiefs had an easy time winning their playoff games as they downed the American league All-Stars, 7-0 and 9-0.

James Bros. beat the Kitty league All-Stars, 8-5, in the first playoff game of that league.

Donnie Pickford pitched and hit the Jukes team to victory as he hurled a two-hitter and slashed out

12 Local Men to Spearhead Drive For Baseball Field

A board of directors comprised of 12 local men will continue the drive to secure funds for a lighted baseball park, Bob Karnes, local hardware dealer who is one of the workers, said today.

The drive for a lighted park was started by "Huck" Gee and "Bud" Sowell, and they enlisted the support of Karnes and Hughie Walker.

Karnes said that the Rotary, Kiwanis and Lions clubs and the Junior Chamber of Commerce will each name two of its members to a board of directors, who will serve along with Gee, Sowell, Karnes and Walker, and this group will spearhead the drive.

At the present time the group has available about $2,500 to build a lighted baseball park which will be used primarily for Little League baseball, Karnes said. The boys in this league will be from small ones up through 16 years of age. When not in use for this league, the park will be available to teams in the Coal Belt league, on which boys from 16 to 20 play.

However, the park will be built large enough for the men's teams, too, he added.

The group already has a 10-year lease on the old Miner's Field across the Dorris Heights road from the fairgrounds. The Beasley-Murray post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars is paying for this lease.

Run by Fire Department
The fire department made a run at 6:25 a. m. today to 321 South Maple street, where members extinguished an attic blaze at the home of Ed Hale. The fire was caused by a defective flue.

The Daily Register 25c a week three of the Jukes' 11 hits.

Maynard and Furlong got two hits each and Payson, Raub, Jahn and Clark picked up single hits. John Pickford and Proffitt singled for the All-Stars' only hits.

Jimmy Thompson's DX Chiefs continued to show their superiority over teams in their age group as they won their second straight shut-out by a 9-0 count. Jerry King was the winning pitcher.

James Bros. won the first Kitty league play-off game, 8-5, over the All-Stars. Peck Boyett pitched a five-hitter and Steven Maszaros gave up nine hits in losing.

Abney, Roberson and Cline had two hits each for the winners and Shelton, Boyett and Utter had single hits. Maszaros and Jahn had two hits each and Baldwin hit safely once for the All-Stars.

Reds Agree to Face-To-Face Meeting on Return of Two Fliers

MUNEEAN, Korea (AP) — The Communists today agreed to a request of the United Nations Military Command for an "urgent" face-to-face meeting to discuss the return of two American Air Force officers, shot down by the Reds last Wednesday.

The meeting will be held at 10 a. m. Sunday (7 p. m. Saturday CST).

Up to now the Communists — who shot down the plane over the neutral, demilitarized zone of Korea—have given no indication whether or not the two Air Force officers survived the crash of their small training plane.

Mr. Whitlock stated that eligibility of those farmers nominated by petition will be checked against these regulations before listing their names on the ballots.

Voting Regulations

Nominations by petition can be made only if the 10 or more persons signing the petition are eligible to vote in the community ASC election. In order to be eligible to vote in the community committee elections a person must have an interest in a farm in the community as owner, tenant or sharecropper, must be participating in the Agricultural Conservation Program or carrying out on his farm one of the eligible practices covered by that program or be eligible for price support on one or more agricultural commodities he produces or be eligible for a payment under the Sugar program.

"These voting eligibility regulations are broad enough to include practically all farmers," Mr. Whitlock pointed out.

The chairman urged all farmers to watch their mail for the ballot and when they receive it to mark

State Fair Grand Champ Steer Brings $1.06 Pound

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — The grand champion steer of the Illinois State Fair today was bought at auction by a local restaurant and a packing company for $1.06 a pound. The buyers promised they'd have steaks on the table from the animal in a week.

The black Angus steer, Mid-nite, owned by Robert Dial, 18 Maroa, weighed 1,080 pounds. The buyers were the Black Angus Restaurant and the Pegwill Packing Co., both of Springfield. The restaurant owners said the packing company would butcher the steer and he would be on their menu in seven days. The restaurant owners are Michael Keeley and Gene Petrelli.

Another Springfield restaurant, Norman's Coffee Shop, paid 60 cents a pound for the junior champion Shorthorn steer owned by Scott McWhinney, 15 Orion, but after that the price on non-champion steers dropped to about 25 cents a pound, only a few cents above market price.

Identify Two Killed in Jet Crash Near Mt. Vernon

GLENVIEW, Ill. (AP) — Glenview Naval Air Station today disclosed the identity of two men killed in the crash of a jet trainer Thursday near Mount Vernon, Ill.

The pilot was Lt. (jg) Stanwix M. Williams, 29, Denmark, S. C. The other victim was Airman 2.C. Vernon O. Mense, 24, St. Libory, Ill.

Glenview authorities said an investigation of the crash was being conducted by the St. Louis Naval Air Station.

Witnesses said the plane exploded in flight and crashed in a cornfield on the farm of Arthur Taylor, Kell, Ill.

The bodies were found in the wreckage, parts of which were scattered for three-fourths of a mile.

Farmer Gene McDaniel said he heard two explosions, looked up and saw and heard a third explosion.

20 Injured in IC Train Crash At Springfield

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — Brake failure was blamed today for a collision of two sections of an Illinois Central train which injured 20 persons at a downtown station here.

Most of the injured were Chicago visitors for "Republican Day" festivities at the Illinois State Fair Thursday. They included Rep. Noble W. Lee, 58, (R), Chicago, and John Leonard East Jr., 40, attorney for the Chicago Sanitary District.

The accident occurred late Thursday when an engine and seven cars backed into six stationary passenger cars.

The two sections of the train were to be coupled at the station to make up a special train to return to Chicago.

The list of injured included one train crewman, Fred Sullivan, Chicago, who received chest and leg burns. The remaining 19 were Chicago area Republicans.

It at once and return it to the county office.

"This is your opportunity to participate in choosing the men who will administer the Price Support, Crop Allotment and Quota, Agricultural Conservation, and Sugar programs during the coming year," Mr. Whitlock advised Saline county farmers.

Locate Air Force Reserve Squadron At Carbondale

The Air Force recently approved the location of an Air Force Reserve Squadron in Carbondale, the first unit of this type to be located in southern Illinois. It will be assigned the southern half of the state extending south of East St. Louis, the announcement revealed.

First Lt. Samuel L. Hoffmeier, Director of Administration of the St. Louis Air Reserve Center, and T Sgt. Edwin N. Prevot, Liaison NCO 9639th Air Reserve Squadron, East St. Louis, met with Carbondale officials recently to survey the possible location sites for the new unit.

The Air Force presently has Air Reserve Flights located at West Frankfort, Harrisburg, Mt. Vernon and Carbondale and all will be assigned to the squadron located in Carbondale, which eventually will become the Air Reserve Center for southern Illinois, it is announced.

Announcement has also been made that a new Non-Commissioned Officer Leadership course will be offered to airmen of the Air Force Reserve in the grade of A-1e through M Sergeant. This is the first opportunity in southern Illinois for airmen to become enrolled in specialized training on a paid basis. A new course in flight operations is also being planned which will be open to rated officers of the Air Force Reserve.

Reservists in this area interested in becoming affiliated with an active reserve unit are urged to contact George M. Robertson, Rose Building, Harrisburg, Major, AFR, commander of Flight E, the unit operating in Harrisburg. This flight meets at 7:30 p. m. each Thursday in the VFW home, corner Jackson and Church streets.

Reservists may also write to Commander, 9639th Air Reserve Squadron, 7214 State Street, East St. Louis, on any matter pertaining to the Air Force Reserve.
